2 対話を読んで設問に答えなさい。

Meg : Wow! The news says that a big fast-food chain in Japan has started selling plant-based hamburgers. Have you ever tried plant-based meat?

Kaito : No. I heard it doesn't taste like real meat.

Meg : It's getting better because the technology has improved. More and more people in the U.S. are eating plant-based meat for environmental reasons, especially young people.

Kaito : I didn't know that. Is ⑥ it more eco-friendly than real meat?

Meg : Yes. Meat consumption is growing because the global population is increasing. (7), supplies of meat will fall short, and meat will become a food we can't get easily in the near future. [A]

Kaito : That's too bad. I love meat!

Meg : Actually, if you want to produce 10 kilograms of beef, you need to feed one cow about 110 kilograms of corn.

Kaito : That's not efficient. We can feed many hungry people with that amount of corn.

Meg : Right! Moreover, cows have a negative effect on global warming because they give off methane gas, a kind of greenhouse gas.

Kaito : Oh, no! But I'm afraid I can't give up eating beef.

Meg : That's (8) plant-based meat was developed. [B] This type of plant-based meat looks like real meat and tastes good.

Kaito : Are other things used to make artificial meat?

Meg : Yes, other types of protein can be used instead of meat. [C] ⑨ Crickets are one of the best insects to use as food. It is said that they taste similar to shrimp. Developing insect-based food may solve our food problems.

Kaito : I see. That reminds me (10) the traditional insect dishes that my grandparents in Nagano sometimes ate.

Meg : That's interesting.

Kaito : OK. It's lunchtime. (11) trying a plant-based burger today?

3 対話を読んで、設問に答えなさい。

Jill : Hi, Takashi. You look excited! What happened?

Takashi : Well, you know my sister is a chef, and she was a member of the food service team for the Tokyo Olympics.

Jill : Yes, you told me that they made meals that were environmentally friendly. And the athletes really enjoyed the food she prepared.

Takashi : That's right, and last week she was asked to help the food service team for the Paris Olympics in 2024!

Jill : That's great! I guess it's a lot of work to make so many meals.

Takashi : Yes, it is. They will have to make 40,000 meals each day!

Jill : Wow, that is a lot!

Takashi : Yes, but it will also be a great chance for her to work with some of the most famous chefs in France.

Jill : Oh, that's cool!

Takashi : However, my sister said it is really difficult to think of all the special meals.

Jill : French people are very proud of their food culture, traditions, and cooking skills. And they will want to give the athletes the best food, too. I'm sure the chefs will do a great job! I think your sister is very lucky to be asked to help.

Takashi : Of course. She's very excited! Also, she doesn't like to waste food. In Paris, any food that the athletes don't eat will be given to people who don't have enough food.

Jill : That's a really nice idea. It is terrible to waste good food. I think your sister will have a great time in Paris!
